CALIFORNIA.

Bear in mind.
California, 1915, where Nature always smiles.

Arrange your 1915 vacation now.
Panama-Pacific International Exposition, San Francisco; Panama-California Exposition, San Diego.
The N. A. D. meets at San Francisco from July 19th to 24th, 1915.

That is the time and the place!
We, of Los Angeles, are joining forces to concentrate effort to prepare an entertainment for you in Los Angeles, after the N. A. D. convention is over. The project is, as yet only in its infancy, but is rapidly shaping to the point where you may expect definite announcements soon.

Our aim is to get you acquainted with California from one end to the other.

Action has begun, in San Francisco, to entertain you so royally that you will talk about it for years to come.

Opportunity comes but once!!
Opportunity for you to see California at such reduced rates is here —the forelock, which the ancient Greeks attributed to opportunity, is bobbing within reach of every deaf man and woman's hand.

If you hesitate, you will be left to mumble tales of what might have been "if" you had only done so and so.

Get busy. "Full speed ahead," and make the most of this unequalled chance to see California.

Now that August and September mark the passing of summer vacation time, every one who is anticipating outings to mountain or sea, is leaving Los Angeles or has already departed.

Mr. and Mrs. Morton Sonneborn and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Sonneborn, for ten days, soaked their souls in the rest and recreation provided in God's world, at the Yosemite Valley, following the advice of John Muir:

"Climb the mountains and get their good tidings.
Nature's peace will flow into you as sunshine flows into trees; The winds will blow their own freshness into you and storms their energy, While cares will drop off like Autumn leaves."

A small accident occurred to Mrs.
Joe Sonneborn, which happened this way. As she was admiring one of the falls there, a sudden gust of wind, without giving any warning, came up quickly and blew off her hat. She took it stoically, and hunted around the camp for a hat to wear in its place. They brought back souvenirs in the form of kodak pictures they took there.

Santa Catalina Island has been chosen as the place where a number of the deaf of Los Angeles are going to spend their Labor Day Holiday. It is an Island in the Pacific Ocean, about 25 miles from Los Angeles. Here you can ride in a glass-bottomed boat and look right into the ocean as you go along. A wonderful view of the submarine garden. You can see shells at the bottom of the ocean, fish swimming around and all kinds of sea weed, and the water is from ten to one hundred feet deep, or more. People go into ecstasies over it. The fishing there attracts people from all over the world, for here are to be found the most game fish.

During the time Mr. and Mrs.
Balis, teachers in the Belleville School, in Canada, were here, they held the center of the stage, for many pleasant events, centering about them, were held. They were astonished to see how Los Angeles had grown since the last time they were here which was ten years ago.
They hope to be able to come back again, and this time it will be for

CONNECTICUT.

On September 6th, before the day of the picnic by the New Haven Division, No. 25, N. F. S.
D., one was held at Mansfield Grove in New Haven, about six miles from Savin Rock. The latter is called the "Little Coney" of this State. It is a famous soundside resort for New Haven people and for many others.

Bros. Hine and Backus, of Waterbury, went to the Insurance Building in New Haven, and as they entered, saw no one around the doorway. However, on leaving that building, Bros. O'Connell, Brophy, Leghorn and Berg standing around, evidently hoping to intercept Bros. Hine and Backus.
About an hour later a group of the Frat's approached that building and held a meeting for a short time.

The Frat's scored a success at its picnic and games at Mansfield Grove, New Haven, on Monday, September 7th. The arrivals began to enter at 10 o'clock, and before the sun had set, over one hundred were present.

Chairman Williams of the Arrangement Committee was kept busy all afternoon, as with his assistants did other work of importance for the enjoyment and comfort of the visitors.

With Bro. Williams as judge and Bro. Moise Changnon as starter, assisted by Bro. W. Sullivan, the games began immediately after the auction, and it was nearly six o'clock before the program was finished.

The shoe race for men was won by Mr. Quinn, Brophy's prize being a few dollars.

Ernest Cosette, of Meriden, breasted the tape first in the 100 yard dash, and won a silk handkerchief.

For Ladies, Miss Walsh won the potato race and received the dollar.
For winning the potato race, Walter Rockwell got a pillow case.

The 50-yard dash for ladies, Miss Ridoloff proved the fleetest and was rewarded with the Brophy prize.

For distance throwing the baseball, Miss Gaffney got a handbag.

Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Hine, Mr. and Mrs. James R. Hine, Mr. and Mrs.
Michael F. Walsh, Mr. and Mrs.
Howard Backus, Messrs. Marcella and Matakais, Miss Margaret

Lozette, William O'Connell, and S.
M. Freedman, of Waterbury; Ruth Wedin, of Platt Mills; Mrs. Gennett, of Thomaston; Stephen Storvik, of Seymour; Messrs. Beach Boecking, Seep, Beatty, Terrio, Gunning, O'Keefe, Cavalario, William T. Sullivan, George and Alfred Stevenson, James Sullivan, and Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Williams and three children, Mr. and Mrs. J.
Bartlett, and Misses Ridoloff, Goldberg, King, Kelsey, Gaffney, Warner, and Mrs. Holt and her daughter, of New Haven; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Youngs, Messrs. Seaman, Philip Quinn, Kirk, Haigin, and Misses Katie Quinn, Miller, and Gasso, of Bridgeport; Messrs.
John Moran, Gus Anderson, Tom O'Connell and Miss Katie Walsh, of New Britain; Messrs. St. John, Durian, Dermody, Rockwell, Ragna and Miss Bogue, of Hartford; Messrs. Philip and Ernest Cosette, Kelly and Miss Florence Perry, of Meriden; Mr. Smith, of Haden; Mr. Brophy, of Higgan-um; Miss Wagner, of Madison; Mr.
Corles, of Bristol; Mr. Mosie Changnon, of Derby; Miss Dowd, of Mystic; Mr. Berg, of South Norwalk.

James Sullivan, a student of Gallaudet College, went down to the seashore with Walter Rockwell, a student of the same college, and the latter went in bathing. He weighs about two hundred and fifty pounds. You ought to see him float. He had his feet with him all right. Well, James Sullivan went down to see him, and he was floating along on the top of the water, his feet high above the tide and a good few hundred people stood on the shore waving their handkerchiefs. They thought it was a boat race.

Mr. Matakais, of Waterbury, just before the buds began to swell, purchased a bicycle from another man and since that time it has been chainless, although he has great sport coasting down the grades about Round Hill. He lends it to his friends Marcella and Mennucci at times and thereby keeps the saddle well greased.

We extend much sympathy to Wm. J. O'Connell, of Waterbury, in the death of his older sister recently. He wishes to thank his friends for their kindness shown during his recent bereavement.

Walter Rockwell, of Hartford, is a fine motor-cycle rider. He yams to his intimate friends that some day he will be champion.

We send our hearty congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert F.
Marshall upon the birth of a baby who adds to the population of Derby.

William J. O'Connell, of Waterbury, moved easily without smashing any of his mahogany to Cooley St., and is living with his married sister, Maragarè.

If our friend's many friends see a smile on his face, it is only natural, for a girl arrived at his home several weeks ago in Bridgeport.

A friend of ours has a feeling in the middle toe of his right foot—a dull pain in the first joint—whenever it is damp; and it aches to-day like the toothache. A friend of his lifts him from the chair to bed and from the bed to the chair night and morning. He has not stood erect for a week. We are very glad to see that Joseph Young, of Bridgeport, is on the road of recovery.

On Labor Day Messrs. Ernest Cosette, of Meriden, Matakais, of Waterbury, and Storvik, of Seymour, walked a few miles from the "Green" to Savin Rock, and filled their lungs with good ozone, and said to themselves "all these beautiful things are mine." After many places of interest were visited and sightseeing was satisfied, Matakais' feet became sore and burned from walking a great deal.

Mr. C. F. Dermody, of Hartford, again sticks to his old position at School for the Deaf in Hartford like a fly sticks to fly paper.

Joseph Leghorn, of New Haven, visited the multimodal points of interest in Waterbury a couple of weeks ago and enjoyed sight-seeing.

Ernest Cosette, of Meriden, says that his father will not keep a motor cycle for him until he is a wealthy man.

Mrs. Edward Hine, of Waterbury, was well tanned at Pittsfield, Mass., for a week, and now is the picture of good health at home.

The writer has no idea of leaving his place of work. He gets good pay.

Titusville, Pa., and Los Angeles, Cal.

These two far apart towns were on Sunday, August 16, 1914, rather closely brought together by the advent and preaching of Rev. Dr.
R. A. Torrey, the world widely known evangelist. He came direct from Los Angeles to Titusville for the first time, to preach upon the only vacant Sabbath he had. This was by the solicitation of Mr.
Lyman Stewart, the millionaire
"oil man" of Los Angeles.

He is the originator and builder there of the great "Bible Institution" (costing a million and a quarter of dollars) for the education of young men and women for missionary fields.

Dr. Torrey preached three remarkable sermons: The first in the Presbyterian Church, proving the Bible to be most emphatically "God's word." His second discourse was in the City Park grove, where during the season, all the Evangelical Churches in town have held afternoon meetings, with various speakers, and the printed Chautauqua services.

Dr. Torrey made a clear and beautiful appeal to the unconverted men and women to accept the Christian life. His voice was so distinct and eloquent that it was heard in all the streets and homes around the Park.

His concluding sermon was given in the evening before an equally large audience in the Methodist Church, several congregations attending. It was a powerfully spiritual argument upon the personality of the Holy Spirit, as a Comforter, Advocate, Paraclete, and ever present friend of Christians, which he said had given him the ability and assurance he ever had as an ambassador of Christ.

When introduced by Dr. Semple at the grove, as a "Congregationalist recently made a member at the Los Angeles Presbytery, "Dr. Tor-rey, pleasantly made this explanation as how he stood as regards denominations: "My mother was a Presbyterian, my father a Universalist. I was educated at a Metho-dodist School and a Presbyterian College. I also was awhile with a Lutheran Congregation, was baptized by immersion, and preached my first sermon in a Congregational Church. I married an Episcopalian, and if any one can tell just where I stand, they are more able than I."

Titusville was highly gratified and benefited by the presence and discourses of this noted Evangelist, for which it is indebted to the "Bible Institute," of Los Angeles.

PITTSBURGH.

Echoes of the convention are belated, don't you think? They are persistent, however, and must be recognized, I suppose.

The Convention was a delightful experience to many who had never had the opportunity before to meet with such a large number of their fellow deaf. It seems everybody made the most of it in their own way.

From all sides comes the gratifying report that those attending the Convention considered it a huge success in every way. Old stagers declared it was one of the cleanest and most harmonious meetings they had ever attended, considering something near three hundred were in attendance.

It was a large and happy crowd that paid its respect to the "Home of the 57 varieties." They not only had a chance to observe a "clean spot" in Pittsburgh, but also to partake of the management's genuine hospitality. In the words of one, "they tasted seven varieties and smelt fifty." The photograph taken by the Heine photographer is being distributed. It is an excellent picture on a post card. It is disappointing as to size, since all had expected a 7 by 10 card at least. Anyway we cannot afford to kick, seeing that everything was free.

There have been many expressions of pleasure that Dr. A. L. E.
Crozier was able to attend the Convention for one day at least.
Many had not had the pleasure of meeting him before. His address was generally enjoyed, and his earnestness in the welfare of the deaf was apparent. Many were surprised at his proficiency in the use of the sign language. That, of course, only emphasized the fact that many do not know him really.

The deaf of Western Pennsylvania were delighted that Dr. Burt was so well remembered by the State deaf on the occasion of the 25th anniversary of his superintendency. They know it was well merited. Dr. Burt, by the way, made the work of the local committee much lighter, through his numerous and willing courtesies.
It was noted that he and Mrs. Burt were present at all the meetings and apparently took great interest in all the proceedings. The reception they provided was greatly enjoyed.

The presence of Mr. T. S. Mc-Aloney, Superintendent of the blind in Pittsburgh, at the reception gave the deaf opportunity of meeting a former teacher of the deaf and Superintendent of the Montana Institution. That he was way up in proficiency in the use of signs, goes without saying. Mr. McAloney has shown his friendliness to the deaf by employing deaf persons at his Institution whenever possible.

The improvised restaurant, located in the basement of the hospital and under the very efficient management of chefs Forbes and Bardes, did a land-office business during the convention. In fact, they saved the day when it came to the feeding proposition. Restaurants and boarding houses in town complained they had meagre patronage —short of what they expected.
That is easily accounted for, they did not then know Forbes and Bardes, genuine go-it-Gallaghers, were in the business. The cooks and bottle washers complained they did not attend the meetings, which,

of course, was wholly due to their own popularity as restaurateurs.
They however generously contributed $7 of their profits to the local committee.

The Misses Bracken, Apel and Boyd, and Messrs. Dunn and Leitner, donated their time and labor to the convention. Their entire time during the three days were given freely, and very much of the success of the Convention is due to their untiring service.

The Local Branch has now a register of those in attendance at the convention that will be of real value to the Society. It not only contains the names of all, but also their correct address, their occupation, married and single, and other information. Also whether they are members of the P. S. A. D. or not.

Mr. J. E. Rosensteel, of Ebensburg, came to the convention in his auto and generously donated free rides to a number of his old friends, so that not a few got a chance to see the beauty side of old Pittsburgh. Mr. and Mrs. Rolhouse accompanied Mr. Rosensteel as far as Johnstown on his way home.
They reported having had a most enjoyable trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Pool, of Hunkers, were in attendance, as were Mr. and Mrs. T. Patton, of Beallsville. Mr.
Pool and Mr. Patton are farmers of the regulation type, successful and contented. That they had to hasten home to "attend to things" shows how busy they are. They are demonstrating the value of farming to the deaf. Mr. Pool, by the way, to show what he grows, sent Mrs.

Teegarden by parcel post a sample of home grown beans. They were a foot long and an inch wide, the finest we had ever seen.

Mr. E. E. Bernsdorff, of Washington, D. C., who is a Pennsylv-vania voter, was here with the smile that won't come off, and circulated freely among old friends as well as new. He's one of our old boys who knows where he is at, all right.

We hear the Pittsburgh Social League had an outing on the Lebo farm on Labor Day. We presume they labored with roasting ears and baked potatoes; also with the yarns that were no doubt spun out at length. It was a change of labor, doubtless, which was the rest they got.

Mr. J. M. Rolhouse is spending the time at this writing on the Patton farm, imbibing farm wisdom at the hands of Mr. Patton and inhaling farm ozone from the freshly plowed fields.

Mr. and Mrs. Bardes are enjoying the first visit of their first grandson, eight weeks old, at present.
That they are proud of their newly acquired dignity is certain. A free exhibition of the latest member of the Bardes family will be accorded all who may call.

The project of forming an alumni association of the Western Pennsylvania Institution for the Deaf, received quite an impetus at the convention. Perhaps the majority in attendance had been pupils there, so there were many meetings of old schoolmates and friends.
Some had not met for years and years, consequently these many confabs and reminiscences of "the good old times" and naturally a desire for more opportunity for such. About two hundred have already signified a desire to join the Association.

A ratification meeting will be held and officers elected at Washington Hall, Pittsburgh, September 26th.

Muscovite and Oriental Futures.

DEAR SIR:—"Coming events cast their shadows before." After ten million lives, more or less, have been sacrificed in the "Slaughter House" of this mad war, Europe devastated, famine stricken, and a bedraggled peace arranged, there is "worse to come," according to the forecast of eminent historical prophets, i. e., "Muscovite Invasion" and "Yellow Peril."

The inevitable trend of population is from the East to the West. The Oriental to the Occidental. The Asiatic hordes are crowding the West continually. It has always been so from the beginning of human history.

The Aryan races early peopled Europe, and in their time had to beat back other invaders. The Greeks first, then Alexander the Great, by his onslaughts on Asia, temporarily caused an ebb tide.
Charles Martel then beat back the Saracens, subsequently to the early crusaders. John Sobieski, gave the finishing touches to Moslem invasion, two centuries ago.

"Still they come," increasing hosts from the Steppes of Russia, and the plains of China, India and Japan. The population of those Eastern lands is multiplying at the rate of over ten millions annually.
They must move West, to exist.

A century ago the world contained but ten hundred million people, but now, half as many more.
"What fools we mortals be," not to prepare for this inevitable human inundation. What was Kaiser William thinking about, to start this strife? He, by a single word, could have extinguished the Austrian torch, that set fire to the mine that underlaid Europe.

Why destroy Europe's power of resistance to warlike invasion from Asia? Civilization and Christianity in Europe could peacefully assimilate these swarming millions. Come they must, either as a gentle tide of humanity, or as an irresistible ocean to inundate Europe and America.

How absurd for England, France and Germany, to teach Japan and China how to fight, and then, by wholesale murder, to render Europe an easy victim to these yellow races.

Germany, France, Austria and England, in whom we, as Americans have such fraternal and consan-guineous interest; by this most terrible conflict, are committing international suicide. "Whom the Gods would destroy, they first make mad."

America is now conglomerate Europe. The United States at this period is largely composed of the heterogeneous races of those fair lands. Hence, this "clash of nations and wreck of worlds," is most harrowing to every true American heart. We weep for Germany, France, and Australia, and are sorry for the poor Russian soldiery.

England; our mother country; must also suffer greatly, before this "cruel war is over." Japan already begins to show its teeth, and her once sleeping giant-sister will no longer consent to be "Broken China."

May "The God of Peace" soon again re-establish amity to those warring Nations.

In your paper of the 27th ult., deaf-mute member of the Moose

Leclerc is another member. Several

"He's true to God who's true to man: Wherever wrong is done To the humblest and the weakest 'Neath the all-holding sun, That wrong is also done to us, And they are slaves most base, Whose love of right is for themselves, And not for all the race."

In his book, "The Scope of Charity," Rev. James Donahoe sends a message to the world of civilized men and women that should be studied and heeded. From the front cover to the end of its 330 pages, every paragraph, sentence and line, is of absorbing interest as well as instructive in the highest degree. The Social Problems that confront mankind are all expatiated upon—the causes of dependency and delinquency, co-operation in charity and social work, the defects of church-supervised charity, the liquor question, and fraternal organization.

One chapter is given over to the Social Status of the Deaf, and the author states: "The article has its place here not because the deaf are regarded, but because many people regard them as a dependent class."

He says: "The average hearing man, though he be well educated, cannot give an inquirer reliable data about the deaf. He cannot hazard a guess regarding the number of deaf in his city. He is ignorant of their manner of making a livelihood; and knows little or nothing as to the most effective way of fitting them to be self-supporting and useful members of society."

He tells the public frankly and clearly about the "fake deaf-mute," and advises people to never give to a deaf beggar, but to turn him over to the Associated Charities. It will be discovered that invariably the beggar is an impostor, feigning deafness to excite sympathy. "Though the public be warned against this class of parasites, there yet remains a belief in the minds of some that an occasional beggar is a deaf-mute. It is very difficult to remove all false views that have come down the years and find credence, on account of the mistaken notion that the deaf (on account of their handicap) cannot be self-supporting."

He pays a fine tribute to the deaf as law-abiding citizens, who rank proportionately very much higher than the hearing.

"According to the United States Special Census Report for 1900 there are in the United States 89,287 persons with seriously impaired powers of hearing. Of these 2722 are blind-deaf, 37,426 are totally and 51,861 partially deaf. 51,871 became deaf under the age of 20, and 37,416 in adult life; 46,915 are males, and 42,371 females; 84,361 are white, and 4,926 colored. There are on an average 1175 deaf to every million of population."

Discussing the education of the deaf, he elucidates the methods of teaching—the Combined System and the Oral method. He continues:

"The advocates of the Oral method arrogantly assume to be the only ones capable of determining what is the best means of educating the deaf. It is true that they give public exhibitions that should afford opportunities to the observant of judging rightly in regard to the yearly progress made in oral schools. Unfortunately very many are dishonest when calling public attention to results achieved. Only semi-mutes and the brilliant pupils are brought to the front. The failure of the Oral method in teaching the many is hidden behind the apparent success in teaching the few. While hearing people are shown what has been accomplished with a small percent of pupils in an oral school, there is no opportunity afforded of learning what progress has been made with the great majority. Teachers of the deaf, it is time that you allow disinterested persons to know what progress has been made with all your pupils. We want to be shown general results. After you have honestly exhibited your work with the dull and ordinary, as well as with the brilliant pupils, abide by the decision of competent judges—though that decision be unfavorable to you and against your educational method.

"By the combined system is meant the use of manual spelling, writing and the sign language, as the medium of intercourse between teacher and pupils, while at the same time attention is given to the training of the young in lip-reading and vocal expression. It is only those who use the sign language who fully realize its great value. It is often even more expressive than spoken language and it is the means of securing an education. It enables the deaf to make the same progress as hearing pupils do in ordinary schools. It is true that the deaf child is much behind the speaking child at seven years of age. The speaking parents of the deaf child are unable to give him the primary training that they can give the hearing child, so it usually happens that the deaf child, when beginning school, is behind the speaking one."

The article concludes with a brief biography of the Abbe de l'Epee, and the project, now in full headway, to commemorate his great work for the deaf and dumb, by a monument to be erected in America by the American deaf; a reference to Thomas Hopkins Gallaudet; military training of the deaf at the New York Institution; insurance by the old line companies, and the National Fraternal Society of the Deaf; the Minnesota Department of the Deaf in the State Labor Bureau, which was drawn up and became law through the energetic work and fertile brain of Mr. A. Spear, assisted by Mr. Anton Schroeder, and now before Congress, for the creation of a Federal Department of Labor for the Deaf.

His final word reads: "Though the work of educating the deaf in America is not a hundred years old, most remarkable advance has been made in their intellectual and social status. It is not many decades since the deaf were in a measure believed to be without reason, and were little less than outcasts in society. To-day they command the respect of their hearing neighbors. There is, however, much to be desired. The deaf are not yet accorded the place that is theirs by every right. Too often they are regarded as being much below the average mentality and lacking in moral caliber that is supposed to be possessed by the representative speaking man. The deaf are too often looked upon with suspicion, and regarded as having peculiar habits and disagreeable temperaments.

"These unfavorable opinions are held by men and women who are sadly in need of being correctly informed regarding their silent neighbors. The deaf have, by hard work, forged to the front in life's struggle, and should in the near future be accorded all the fruits of the victories they have won, in spite of a serious handicap."

The book can be had, bound in cloth, for $1; or in paper, for 45 cents. Write to Rev. James Donahoe, The Cathedral, St. Paul, Minn.

THE Berlin paper for Deaf-Mutes, called Deutsche Taubstummen-Zeitschrift, tells of organized work to aid the deaf of Berlin during the troublous times of war. Money has been set aside by the societies of the deaf, for food and other necessities of life. The paper is published in reduced form and notice is given that its dates of issue will be irregular. Mention is made of Mr. William Lipgens and his successful effort in getting to America. Also the Taubstummen-Zeitschrift ventures the opinion that Simon Kahn, who is now at Coblenz, not being a naturalized American citizen, will find it very difficult, if not impossible, to get back to New York.

ANTON SCHROEDER,
Treas. De l'Epee Mem. Statue Com., 2172 Carroll Ave., St. Paul, Minn., August 29, 1914.

Report No. 7, of Treasurer Schroeder, given above, shows a steady growth of the statue fund. Since the first report was issued, the average monthly receipts have exceeded $100. Mr. Samuel Frankenhelm, of New York, holds the record for the largest individual donation to the statue fund, to date—$20.

Organizations aiding the fund are increasing, both in number and variety. Those whose donations appear in the present report are: The Job Williams Literary Society, of Hartford; The Silent Mission, of Connecticut; The Detroit Division, N. F. S. D.; The Knights of De l'Epee, of Boston, and the Ephpheta Society, of Flint.

In our previous report we stated that Mr. Schroeder owned the finest and fastest launch on Lake Darling, and had donated to the Statue Fund the receipts from rides on his launch. We have since been informed that Mr. Schroeder, at the present time, owns no launch, and that the launches owned by Mr. L. D. Hodgman—the former's the fastest and largest on the lake—were the launches put in service for the Statue Fund. We are glad to give full credit to whom credit is due and take this means of adding our own grateful appreciation to Messrs. Thompson and Hodgman for their liberality and help. We have also been informed, since our last report, that the foodstuff which went into the "fine, big dinner," given by Mrs. Hodgman, at Lake Darling, was donated by the deaf people at the camp.

Mr. J. C. Bremer, 222 16th Street, Wheeling, has been appointed State Agent, for the Statue Fund, in West Virginia.

Mr. Percy B. Jones, of Corinth, has been appointed State Agent for the Statue Fund, in Mississippi, to succeed Mr. Duncan Cameron, who has removed from that State.

J. H. Cloud,
Chair, De l'Epee Memorial Statue Fund Committee, 2602 Virginia Avenue,
St. Louis, Mo., September 7, 1914.

The expense of printing and postage on the Proceedings of the Cleveland Convention was so great that members were asked to contribute Ten Cents or more toward defraying this expense. These contributions were not demanded, but were to be considered as merely voluntary contributions on the part of those members who desired to help along the work of the Association. Total rec'd to date $32 51

In addition to the above sum, $50 has been drawn from the General Fund to pay the postage bill on reports sent out. About 500 copies are yet to be distributed, mostly to libraries, and an additional sum must come from the General Fund to pay postage on these. The secretary takes this means of acknowledging the above contributions, which have aided greatly in distributing the report.

A. L. ROBERTS, Sec'y.
Sept. 7, 1914.

The treasurer submits his report covering the period between March 1st and September 1st, 1914. A careful perusal of this report will show that on the first named date there was a balance in the treasury of $637.47. That the report of the proceedings was paid for in full, and that 5000 pamphlets were also printed and distributed, that the President made two trips to Omaha to carry out the order of the Association as expressed at Cleveland, and that all running expenses, including a typewriter for the President, were met, and that there is still a balance in the treasury of $577.67. In other words, the Association has met extraordinarily heavy charges and has about as much money on hand as when it started. This money came in from new members and dues. If the members will pay up their dues promptly and continue to enlist new members as they have done during the past year, the Association will be in excellent financial trim to meet the demands upon it. The report in full follows:

H. D. DRAKE, Treasurer.

There is an unqualified disapproval of the Day School idea. It is an outgrowth of Oralism, and is not only open to the objections of oralism but to the further objections of difficulty in grading, lack of apparatus, lack of manual training facilities, and isolating the deaf children who attend the school. We would like to abolish all but one or two of the larger Day Schools, excepting, of course, that conducted by Dr.
Cloud, of St. Louis. This school is so large that it admits of excellent grading; it has the manual training facilities offered the children of the St. Louis Public Schools, and it is conducted under the Combined System. We have been able to keep the day school idea out of Minnesota, but it has taken root in other States and it would be well to endeavor to fight this evil. That it can be successfully combated has just been demonstrated by Mr. Andrew Gran, President of the Zenith City Branch of the N. A. D. There is a Day School in Superior, just across the river from Duluth. Mr. Gran got a list of the pupils and personally went and interviewed their parents.

He explained the fallacy of the Oral Method and the weak points of the Day School System generally.
The result was that he got together just one half of the pupils of the school and packed off with them to Delavan on the opening day of the State School and turned them over to Mr. Walker. Here is a great big life size lesson to be learned from this incident. If I could drive it into the "cocoons" of the deaf of this country, we would drive oralism into a deep, dark cavern, and it would have to pull the cavern in after it.
The lesson is this: If the deaf will get right up on their hind legs and declare the truth freely and fully about the Oral Method, and everywhere show it up as they well may, the public will listen to them. Our good friends, the Superintendents of some schools, have such a mighty poor opinion of the graduates of their own schools, and naturally believe that graduates of other schools can not be any better if as good, that they will not listen to the opinions of the deaf, but it is gratifying to know that the general public PREFER the opinions of educated deaf people to those of the Superintendents themselves. Wherever the deaf have stood right up like men and women and "spoke right out in meeting," they have ac-

GALLAUDET TO PLAY IN NEW YORK.

For some time those interested in our deaf-mute schools have been desirous of seeing the strong Gallaudet College foot-ball team play in New York. During the past year Gallaudet has been the marvel of the foot-ball world. Last year it won the Collegiate Championship of Maryland, and had the distinction of scoring two hundred and sixty points in seven games. The powerful Western Maryland University was beaten forty to nothing by the deaf-mute boys, and in the game against Baltimore City College, Gallaudet ran up the record score of the Intercollegiate Foot-ball season, and defeated their opponents 103 to 0. As the Gallaudet team is now so strong that Georgetown University has this year conceded them the Thanksgiving game in Washington for the championship of the South Atlantic Section, the many friends of deaf-mute education are gratified to know that Fordham University has kindly consented to give the Gallaudet boys Bronx County Day, October 3d, on their schedule. As Fordham has a powerful team this year our deaf-mutes will be seen at their very best in New York. The game begins at 3 p.m. on Fordham Field, 3d Avenue and Fordham Road (30th Street). At the request of the manager of Gallaudet the prices were lowered to 75 cents and 1.00 dollar. The President of the Bronx and many other prominent City officials will be present. It will be a glorious victory if Gallaudet defeats Fordham.

P. S.—Season tickets may be obtained upon application to the Manager, Paul J. Lannin, or upon application to Lester W. Patterson, President of Fordham University Association. Price $3.50.

One of the interesting features of the Agricultural and Horticultural Fair held recently in Westchester County, was the wonderful showing made by Mozart Monae-Lesser of Two Pine Farm, Mount Kisco, N. Y. Out of seventeen entries, he took fifteen prizes, ten of which were first honor, three second, and two third.

Much credit is due Mr. Monae-Lesser, for the reason that he did the majority of the work alone, while the competing farms were worked by three to four men.

There is another deaf mute employed on the same farm, by the name of Charles Müller who is also very industrious and promises to have a few exhibits of his own by the time the next Fair is held.

The prizes were awarded to the following products: Potatoes—New Gold Coin, first; New York Rubber 1st, and Carmen No. 1, 1st. Tomatoes—Champion, 1st; Pear, 1st; Stone, 2d; and Cherry, 2d. Corn—Golden Bantam, 1st; Country Gentleman, 1st; and Stowell's Evergreen, 3d. Pole Beans—King of the Garden, 1st. Peppers—Chinese Giant, 1st. Melons—Tip-Top, 3d. Tobacco Leaf, 1st; and Egg Plant, 2d.

Among the latest "recruits" to enlist in the increasing army of prudent deaf policyholders of the stanch New England Mutual Life Insurance Company, is Mr. John H. McFarland of Talladega, Ala. Writing, under recent date, to Mr. Marcus L. Kenner, the Eastern Special Agent of said Company: "It was gratifying to learn that I passed the physical examination. If the physical examination had been to see if I was fit to join the mobilization movement—i.e., to go to the front and make a target of myself—I should not have been anxious to pass. Thanks for your trouble."

One of New York's steady business deaf women is Miss Margaret H. Jones, of Elmhurst, L. I., nearly twenty-five years a designer for a well-known jewelry firm and a thirty-three miles commuter, will try to commute this winter for the first time since she has resided in Elmhurst for the past seven years. Last Spring she purchased the "Paijo" which she spins nearly every Saturday, Sunday, and other days when not at business. Her usual companions are her sisters, who also are good drivers, and Miss Josephine Albrecht, of Flushing.

Isaac Newton Soper went to Mountain View, N. J., last Saturday, and stayed over until Monday evening with his friends, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel W. McClelland.

Mr. Samuel Goldstein, brother of Mr. Joseph Goldstein, has enlisted in the Field Artillery in the United States Army, and is now on his way to Honolulu.

Albert Kohlmetz passed away last Saturday. An extended obituary notice will appear next week.

Samuel Goldberg and family are back in the town from Arverne, where they spent the summer.

A girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. A. Auerbach, of Brooklyn, on Sunday, September 13th.

OHIO.

[News items for this column may be sent to our Ohio News Bureau, care of Mr. A. B. Greener, 980 Franklin Ave., Columbus, O.]

Sept. 19, 1914.—The school mill is again on its grind. The term for 1914-15 began auspiciously on the 16th with an attendance of 440 on the opening day. It has been a long time since such an influx of pupils presented themselves on the first day. Just what caused it, we are at a loss to comprehend. More-over the appearance of the pupils evidence that they were in healthy condition, browned and robust, as the result of their three months respite of school routine. The teachers too were all on hand, and likewise gave evidence that the vacation was beneficial to them. Some old faces were missed, and in their places were new ones. Among the former are Misses Frances Walker, who had been a teacher since 1889, Lulu Alspach, Nellie C. McCafferty, who was married last June, Hazel Bryant, Delle Bidenharn, Hertha Wittenmeier, Louise Berry, supervisor of speech, and Miss Marjorie Tyler. The new faces are Miss Helen Gardner, Miss Pauline Jones, Lois Edwards, Nellie Edwards, and Zelma Naylor, teacher of blind-deaf, to which are added the following normal students: Misses Blanche E. Jones, Elizabeth Wegman, Albertine Hoefler, Mary Dennis, and Mr. Given Marquis. Miss Gertrude Hatfield takes Miss Louise Berry's place as supervisor of speech. We are informed that Miss Bryan goes to the New Jersey School to teach, Miss Tyler to Fanwood, and Miss Bidenharn to the Flint School.

The Library room was found too small to hold the meeting of the teachers Tuesday evening, so the B Rotunda was used instead. Time was when the office of the Superintendent was ample for such purpose, but now the teaching force with the Normal students has swelled to fifty, not counting the shops.

Superintendent Jones, after a few congratulatory remarks, outlined the work for the year, and urged upon the teachers the importance of reading among their pupils. Last year the rotatory system of teaching was tried in the Manual Grammar classes. This year it will be extended to the High School classes, and also to the three upper classes of the Oral Grammar Grade. Miss Pauline Jones will teach language to the High School classes and to the Fifth Oral class.

Mr. B. F. Galloway, of Billings, Mo., in renewing his subscription to the JOURNAL, writes that most of his garden truck has done well despite the drought. The wheat was light, but of good quality. There was too much straw in it. His corn promises from 40 to 50 bushels an acre. Speaking of the report of the scarcity of the cattle and consequent high prices for meat, he claims it is all false, that there is plenty of meat in the market, but few people buy it on account of high prices. The bluff about a scarcity of cattle he claims is a get-rich quick scheme, as there are plenty of fat cattle, sheep and hogs awaiting a market. Even fowls are doing well. He takes to market from 6 to 8 dozen eggs every other week. He has some pride for one of his hens, which laid an egg recently 4 inches long and 8 1/2 inches in circumference.

The other day Superintendent Jones received a letter from Isaac W. Knightlinger, whose home is now at Cambridge, Neb. He is eighty-five years old. His wife died three years ago. He requested Superintendent Jones to send him a report of the School containing a list of all the pupils. He alludes to Collins Stone, who was Superintendent of the School at the time he was a pupil, 1857-61, and to then teachers: Frances, Weed, Talbot, Kinney and Spofford, also Messrs. Raffington and Zorbaugh, who were pupils at the time. He asks if they were still living, from which it is evident he has been dead to the deaf since leaving school—by not taking some paper published in the interest of the deaf. He is put down in the report of 1887 as entering the school from Union County, and reads from the lips. He remained four years and followed the occupation of chair maker. Of course all of the persons he names have passed to the Beyond excepting Messrs. Raffington and Zorbaugh.

We were at the Home Sunday, and conducted a service for the "residents," with the exception of Christian Hege, who has been poorly for a year. All were in good health and enjoying the beauties that Fall produces about the Home. Mrs. Chapman, the matron, despite her many duties, has had up an abundant supply of canned goods for the year's use, and all are products of the farm which the Home owns. Here is a list of the good things in store: 40 qts. raspberries, 100 qts. cherries, 40 qts. blackberries, 60 qts. grapes, 20 qts. chow-chow, 4 gal. grape juice, more to be added; 100 qts. tomatoes, 200 more to be added; 16 qts. corn and tomatoes, 30 qts. strawberries, 40 qts. barbab, 20 qts. pears, additions to be made; 10 gal. sweet pickles and 12 gal. in salt, 70 glasses of different jellies. Before the season closes, peaches and more pickles will be put up. Superintendent Chapman will have a good report to make, as to sales from the farm products and money taken in at the Home for the year. He has taken in about $700. During the last week or two, the exterior of the barn has been repainted of a red color, and the portico of the main building looks the better in its new coat of paint. The work was done by Wm. Kunzling and is a credit to him.

Mrs. Ella Zell reached home Wednesday, having, after leaving Rye Beach Park, spent a few days with Miss Louisa K. Thompson, of Akron, and in Cleveland with a relative. A. B. G.

FANWOOD.

On the sixteenth of the present month a cheerful, healthy, sun-burnt, gathering once again collected in Fanwood's halls to embark on a new voyage of education.

This occasion marks the Ninety-seventh opening anniversary of the Institution. Play days, vacation days, fade, as thoughts are turned toward education by good old dame knowledge. Anyway, for the present and some time to come, memoirs of the happy summer of 1914, will still be called to mind.

The afternoon was spent in joyful recess, the American game being the center of interest played on the diamond.

Thursday morning the Principal greeted the pupils in the chapel with a pleasant address of encouragement for the ensuing year.

Mr. George K. S. Gompers, a graduate of the class of 1910, was a delightful visitor last Wednesday afternoon. He entertained the boys with his timely jokes. Later in the afternoon, Mr. Fischer, of the Clark Club, and Mr. Hawley, a former Fanwoodite, joined us, and spent the rest of the afternoon, discussing war news.

Cadet Joseph Rubin went to Philadelphia recently on a visit. He called at the Mt. Airy School, and had a conversation with the boys. He returned Monday last well satisfied.

Escorted by Miss Alice E. Judge, Mrs. Martin L. Glynn, of Jersey City, Mrs. W. E. Marshall, of Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Wm. Meisenger, of West New York, N. J., visited the Trades' Schools and other departments last Friday. Mrs. Glynn's husband is a Fanwood graduate, and learned the trade of printing in the JOURNAL office. He has prospered in the world, owns real estate, has a lovely daughter, and makes good pay as a printer with one of the big business concerns in New York City.

Last week Mr. Sylvan Riley, a recent graduate of the Institution at Olathe, Kan., and his mother, were two interested visitors at the printing office. They had a very pleasant conversation with Editor Hodgson. Mr. Riley is on his way to Gallaudet College, Washington, D. C., where he will enroll as a student.

The Audubon Theatre is the only place patronized by the deaf here. Its attractions and finest motion-picture plays are the constant delight, therefore, it is natural the deaf should flock to this theatre.

Who will win the National League championship, is the chief subject discussed by the base-ball cranks here.

The pupils were glad to hear of Miss Amelia E. Berry's safe arrival from Europe last Thursday. Her difficulty in obtaining a berth was so great, that she had to wait until two weeks, when she succeeded, at last, in landing a berth. She is now ready for hard work ahead.

Last Saturday, the first base-ball game of the school year was played, and the result was the crushing defeat of Fanwood by the Chapel A. C. However, Fanwood played gamely to the end; Altenderfer and Margraf pulled down dangerous liners, while Berman astonished us by his timely hits which netted the badly-needed runs. The vacancy of official scorer by graduation was filled by Cadet Gerschaneck. The score will be found below:—

Among the numerous spectators who witnessed the baseball game was William Garrison, a Fanwood graduate. He expressed regret of the Fanwood's defeat, but entertains hopes of success in the future.

He is now playing for the All Stars baseball team, as a first baseman, and he starred in almost every game by his hits and field work, much to the delight of the Fanwoodites.

The Jewish pupils went home Saturday last to celebrate the New Year's day, and returned to School Tuesday. They will go home again next week to fast all day, and we wonder if they have patience enough to refrain from touching food from morning till evening. When the Hebrew holidays are over, classification will be made, and the military will be organized under the supervision of Principal Currier.

Miss E. E. Hunter, a teacher in this school for three years, relinquished her position last June, and is now happily married. Congratulations and best wishes to her from her friends here. Miss Alice Eckert, who for many years had been the special teacher in vocalization, was married on August 22d. To fill these vacancies caused by the resignations Principal Currier selected Misses Gay and Groth as their successors.

George W. Boland entered the Institution as a pupil Friday last. He formerly attended the Albany Day School. Hearing that Fanwood has trades instruction, he came here, and is now a pupil. The fame of this Institution spreads steadily all over the world.

The Misses of the Adrastian Society re-opened with the election of three probationers. The officers elected for the ensuing year were: Counselor, Principal Currier; Vice-President, Wanda Makowski; President, Carrie Lanz; Secretary, Elsie Grossman; Chairman, Elsie Luff; Members, Marion McCoy, Rebecca Champagne, Irene Wilkin, Gertrude Smith, and Elsie Hatch.

Fanwood Literary Society will be called to order on October 3d, with Principal Currier and Dr. Fox holding the reins.

Principal Currier escorted Miss Elizabeth Peet and her niece through the Institution's several departments on Monday afternoon. Miss Peet, who is one of the Faculty of Gallaudet College, is a daughter of Isaac Lewis Peet, LL.D., who was Principal of this school for over twenty-five years, and at the time of his death, in 1898, was Emeritus Principal. Her niece is the eldest daughter of George Herbert Peet, who has for several years been practicing law in one of the border towns of New Mexico.

A picture post-card received by Principal Currier, announces Walter Kadel's arrival at Galveston, on his way to the Texas Institution to begin his work as Instructor of Military Tactics. He was not seasick during the ocean trip from New York to Galveston.

Memphis, Tennessee.

N. E. Harris and L. C. Puchen attended the Mississippi Association of the Deaf Convention at Jackson recently, and reported a most delightful time. Mr. Harris went as a delegate from the Memphis Division, No. 38, N. F. S. D., and succeeded in corraling quite several applicants.

Miss Ada Faulkner returned to her post of duty here after a sojourn of several weeks with her parents and relatives near Woodland, Miss. She has the glow of healthy country life now.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Wendel, formerly of Mississippi, but now of Parkston, South Dakota, stopped off in Memphis several days recently, en route North, and the Memphis deaf were pleased to see them. A party was given in their honor at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harris, and it was well attended by the silent citizens of this city. Mrs. Wendel was Miss Myrtle Faulkner, a charming sister of our Miss Ada Faulkner.

Claude Ozier, a 1914 graduate at the Tennessee School, Knoxville, leaves about the middle of this month for Gallaudet College, Washington, D. C. On the way he expects to stop off at Knoxville to see his old friends. Claude—beg pardon, he is now Mr. Ozier—has many friends in this city who will watch his coming college career with great interest.

The Memphis deaf were treated to two impressive divine sermons not long ago. One was by Rev. J. W. Michaels, of Fort Smith, Ark., at the Central Baptist Church. Rev. H. Lorraine Tracy, the head teacher at the Louisiana School, Baton Rouge, delivered the other at the Calvary Episcopal Church.

S. W. Harris, assistant to the superintendent and head teacher of the Manual Department at the Mississippi School, Jackson, spent a most pleasant ten days' visit to relatives and friends here. He left last week on a visit to Oxford, Miss. before resuming his work at Jackson, on the 22d inst.

A special meeting of the Memphis Deaf-Mutes' Association was held at the Y. M. C. A. to transact business of local importance. At the close of the session a mass meeting of the Memphis deaf was called, and Mr. S. W. Harris, member of the N. A. D., Executive Committee from the Middle South, was invited to speak. In his talk Mr. Harris outlined the work of the N. A. D., past, present and future, and its policy, and made a good impression on the audience.

Saturday before Labor Day a party, composed of N. E. Harris, Joe A. Todd, L. C. Puchen, R. C. Harris, S. W. Harris, Neeley Charter, W. W. Clark and Claude Ozier, went on a most enjoyable camping and fishing expedition near Henderson's Ferry, on the Wolf River five miles northeast of Memphis. The party returned home on the morning of the Labor Day with glowing accounts and many a joke of the trip. The campers are under great obligations to Dr. J. M. Walton, Miss Jessie Smith and Mr. Charles Ozier (all hearing friends), for a splendid spread conveyed in auto to the camp site for Sunday dinner, as well as for many other courtesies, all of which helped to make the outing a most pleasant and memorable one.

Dr. James N. Walton was a genial host to the Henderson's Ferry camping party, referred to in a preceding paragraph at Floyd's, the Memphis Delmonico, Monday evening, September 7th. The host delivered a cordial address of welcome, to which Mr. S. W. Harris, of Jackson, Miss., made a fitting response in behalf of the campers. Before the party dispersed, Mr. J. R. Todd moved a rising vote of thanks to the doctor and the members enthusiastically adopted it. Besides those already mentioned, others present were Miss Jessie Smith, Mrs. A. V. Ozier, Clarence and Carl Ozier.

With Mrs. Bessie Todd and Miss Charlotte Todd, as chief "plotters," a bunch of Memphis deaf gave John A. Todd a delightful and unexpected birthday surprise party on the evening of Labor Day, Monday, at the Todd residence. In behalf of the Henderson's Ferry campers, President N. E. Harris of the Memphis Deaf-Mutes' Association presented with cordial and well-chosen words several birthday remembrances to Mr. Todd, who, although taken aback with surprise managed to express his sincere thanks and appreciation to his friends. Story-telling, cracking jokes and playing games of cards, together with delicious refreshments, made the time pass off pleasantly for all. Besides the hostesses, Messrs. Todd and Harris, those present were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harris and son, Robert, Jr., Misses Ada Faulkner, Margaret Choate, and Fannie Tanton, Messrs. L. C. Puchen, S. W. Harris, W. W. Clark, Claude Ozier and Neeley Charter.

CESAR II.

PHILADELPHIA.

The Philadelphia Local Branch, P. S. A. D., held its monthly meeting at All Souls' Parish House, last Saturday evening, 12th inst. A fair attendance was present. In the absence of President Roach, Vice-President Underwood presided. The President of the Pennsylvania Society for the Advancement of the Deaf was called on to give an account of the recent convention in Pittsburgh, and he did so. Next, Dr. S. G. Davidson was invited to speak, and he took the opportunity to make a farewell address. He is here for a short time to finish up some work and to attend to the removal of his household goods to his future home in New Hampshire. He said he deeply regretted to leave Philadelphia, where he has spent so many years, but he felt that the growing interests of his school demanded that he give it his whole time. He has been connected with the Pennsylvania Institution for the Deaf and Dumb for about thirty years, during which time he has taught about five hundred pupils. He paid a glowing tribute to Dr. Crouter, who, he said, had always treated him fairly and equally with the hearing teachers. He is one of the staunchest friends of the deaf that he knows, and he hoped that the deaf will always remain loyal to him. Before speaking of Dr. Crouter, he said that he could not talk so openly about a teacher, lest some might have accused him of talking for favors; but now he is free and need not hesitate to tell all he knows and thinks of Dr. Crouter's worth as an educator and his friendliness for the deaf. Great applause greeted Dr. Davidson's remarks at the conclusion.

Miss Helena L. Bowden next recounted some of her vacation experiences, and she was followed by Mr. William H. Lipsett, who in a happy frame of mind recounted his trip to Washington, D. C., last June, to attend the Gallaudet College reunion. There was no time for more addresses, so adjournment followed soon after Mr. Lipsett concluded.

Mr. and Mrs. James M. Parvis tendered their daughter, Edna, a birthday party on Saturday evening, 12th of September. A pleasant evening was passed. Mr. A. McGee made a speech of congratulation. The young lady was made the happy recipient of many beautiful gifts. Among the guests present were: Misses Edna Snell, Mary Price, Elena Goldberg, Ida Nickolson and Ethel Mock, and Messrs. Robert Young, Samuel Thomas, Harry Coulston Sylvan Steer, Louis Lovett, Albert Wolf, Joel Schwartz, and Alex. S. McGhee.

St. Joseph's Catholic Mission and the Beth Israel Association for the Deaf re-opened their meetings on Sunday, September 13th.

Mr. C. F. Palmer and family left Philadelphia on Saturday, 12th inst., for Memphis, Tenn., where they will make their home with a sister.

Among the Sunday visitors at All Souls' were Mr. R. N. Parsons, of Hazardville, Ct., and Mr. Samuel Price, of Easton, Pa., and Miss Eva Coxie, of Wilmington, Del.

Rev. Mr. Dantzer has been ill for several days and was unable to take the service last Sunday. One of the lay-readers read the service for him.

Miss Louisa W. Geiger has returned to Philadelphia after an absence of a few weeks.

HARTFORD

The school here began its ninety-eighth year on Thursday, September 10th, the enrollment at the close of the first week being 174, with some twenty more expected.

The Clark School at Northampton, Mass., began its autumn session on Tuesday, September 23d. The prospects are that the school will be taxed to the limit of its capacity, which is about one hundred and six pupils. This school has a number of paying pupils from outside of New England.

Mrs. Fred C. Rock and her daughters, Mrs. Pollard and child, and Miss Cora Rock, with one or two hearing ladies, occupied a cottage at Clinton Beach the first week in September.

Ernest Smith, of West Stafford, who was badly poisoned from contact with poison ivy, or dogwood, he doesn't know which, has been in St. Francis Hospital, and Mrs. H. Nevers has been ill at the Hartford Hospital of overwork and nervous breakdown, incurred since her husband's tragic death by drowning in the river last August.

The "Frats" picnic at Mansfield Cove, East Haven, Labor Day, September 7th, was attended by eighty or more deaf people. Those present from Hartford were Chas. F. Dermody, R. E. St. John, W. C. Rockwell and Miss Ethel M. Bogue.

On Saturday evening, September 26th, there will be a meeting and social of the newly-organized school Alumni Association in the gymnasium room at the school. At this meeting there will be a complete enrollment of the "charter members," so we understand.

The war seems to have hit some of our Hartford business concerns quite seriously. Both Underwood and Royal typewriter factories have been working on half time now for some weeks. As quite a number of our local deaf work in these factories, it has compelled them to economize. But we can all be thankful we do not live in Europe, where hundreds of our fellow deaf live, and where in several countries the very roof over one's head is in hourly peril of some sort of destruction. And, besides it will not hurt us in this country, hearing and deaf alike, to practise more economy and to live more simply, to dress less pretentiously, and to reduce the number of our little picnics and excursions for a while. And to stay at home and pay our bills. We can, and it looks as if a good many of us must, for the rest of this year, at least.

Mr. Lawrence W. Crowley, one of our wide-awake and popular young Hartford deaf men, and Miss Ella May Shum, a graduate of the Hartford School, class of 1909, were quietly married at the home of the bride in Wallingford, Vt., during August last. Mr. and Mrs. Crowley are keeping house on New Park Avenue, and will be at home to their friends on and after October 1st.

Mr. H. D. Lee Clark has a position as a linotype operator at Cose, Lockwood, Brainard & Co. This is the best known and largest book-binding and printing establishment in this state. Mr. Clark had a long and trying time in getting a chance to work at his new trade, as the linotype workers in this State are strongly Unionized and require a man to serve an apprenticeship of four years. We predict that Mr. Clark, if given a fair chance, will in time be a very expert linotype man as he is well educated, accurate and painstaking, and can use his fingers very rapidly.

Mrs. Lorin T. White, of Andover, has been visiting with her daughter, Mrs. H. D. Lee Clark, of this City, and also with Mrs. William Ely, at Haddam, Connecticut.

The Connecticut deaf boys in Colleges this Autumn are Michael Lapiques, of New Haven, at Carnegie University, Pittsburg, Pa., and James J. Sullivan, at Gallaudet College; Walter C. Rockwell, of Hartford, is at Gallaudet, and Edward Ragna, at Storrs, State Agricultural College. All four are graduates of the Hartford School here.

Mr. Walter Beatty, of Guilford, spent Sunday, September 13th, visiting friends in Bridgeport, Connecticut. This young man is a graduate of Mt. Airy School and works as a wheelwright in a wagon and carriage shop.

Miss Bertha Cossette, who was one of the graduates of the school here last June, is spending a week or more with her father and his family in Bridgeport.

Mrs. Julia Averill, of New Britain, who has been spending the summer as usual with her daughter and family, Dr. and Mrs. Loomis, at Harris Cove, East New Haven, returns to her home the last week of September. Mrs. Averill, is in her 91st year and is in very good health. We believe she is the oldest deaf-mute now living in New England.

Mrs. J. D. Bartlett, of New Haven, spent several days recently visiting her former time school friend, Miss Abbie J. Daniels, of New London.

Mrs. R. D. Beers, of Bridgeport, has been visiting with Mrs. Frank Roberts at Carlstadt, N. J. The two ladies were schoolmates and have been friends, visitors at each other's homes occasionally, for fifty years.

Miss Mary Callibrasse, who works in New York City, has been visiting her mother, who lives on Steuben Street, Bridgeport.

James T. Dolan, of Derby, has taken to himself a wife. Mr. and Mrs. Dolan were married in New York City, in August last, and are at present stopping at his mother's home. The bride is from New York City.

The Yost Typewriter concern, of Bridgeport, has closed down for several weeks now and thrown two deaf men out of work temporarily, Robert Sweeney and J. T. Dolan.

Mr. and Mrs. James Frelliek, of Glenbrook, spent the first week of September visiting relatives in or near Portland, Me., and stopped for a few hours at the Gallaudet convention in Portsmouth, N. H.

On Sunday, September 6th, Alfred A. Stevenson, of New Haven, and Mrs. H. G. Wheeler, of Morris Cove, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac P. Beech, at Branford, Ct.

Mrs. Leon P. Fowler, of New Haven, died, of tuberculosis, at the Sanatorium in Shelton, Ct., the last of July, after a long illness. She was a hearing lady, and besides her husband, leaves six children, the eldest a boy of fifteen, the youngest a child of three years. The children have been provided for in the New Haven Orphanage now for nearly two years, except the oldest boy, who is in the Wilkinson farm school here in Hartford.

Word was received, by friends here in Hartford recently, of the death in Newcastle, N. H., of Mrs. Frank B. Roberts, of Boston, Mass. She was married to her husband, who survives her, about eight years ago, and was still in the prime of life. She was a woman of many activities in many works of faith and Christian charity. She was an active member of the Ladies' Auxiliary of Boston, who work for the New England home at Everett. She was an earnest worker of the Altar Guild of St. Andrew's Silent Mission, and she was ever ready to help those in need. Mrs. Roberts had been ill a long time. But a long standing but unrealized cancer trouble was recently found to be acute. An operation, on Sunday, September 6th, proved only to be a temporary relief. One week later she passed away from this earthly life. Her husband, and Mr. and Mrs. Frisbee and Mrs. Margaret J. Style, of Philadelphia, were with her at the end. The funeral was at Newcastle, N.H., on Tuesday, September 15th, and the burial on Wednesday, at Mt. Auburn, Boston.
